Scholarships Available

Loveland, CO - The Loveland branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) is pleased to announce its annual scholarship program for women seeking to further their education in graduate studies.

The AAUW is committed to promoting education and equity for women and girls, and the scholarship program is one of the ways it carries out this mission. The scholarships are open to women of all ages who reside in the Loveland-Berthoud area and are seeking funding for tuition, books, and other graduate education-related expenses.

"Investing in women's education has a ripple effect that benefits not only the individual woman, but her family, her community, and society as a whole," said AAUW Loveland President, Karla Marroquin. "We are proud to offer this scholarship program and to help women reach their full potential through education."

The application deadline for the AAUW Loveland scholarships is April 29, 2023. Eligible applicants will be asked to provide transcripts, letters of recommendation, and a personal statement outlining their academic and career goals.

For more information and to access the scholarship application, visit the scholarship section on the AAUW Loveland website at Loveland-co.AAUW.net.
